The Aravis Executive Program !

“My Legacy...” – The Aravis Executive Program!

There comes a point in every successful leader's career when sustaining energy, enthusiasm and competitive position amidst an ever-changing array of complexity can be difficult. The pressure to continue dealing with demands and to honour personal priorities is exhausting. At some stage, we all face the challenge of staying abreast of current developments whilst keeping our career, organisation and personal vision moving in the right direction. The Aravis Executive Legacy Seminar provides you with the opportunity to refocus on your leadership role and to reinvigorate yourself, by reconnecting with your professional and personal values and vision.

Programme Structure

The Aravis Executive Legacy Programme is a five day experience, commencing on a Sunday evening at the Aravis Retreat in the French Alps, and departing on the following Friday afternoon. The Programme structure focuses upon developing self knowledge and personal effectiveness through physical, social, emotional, spiritual and mental strategies.

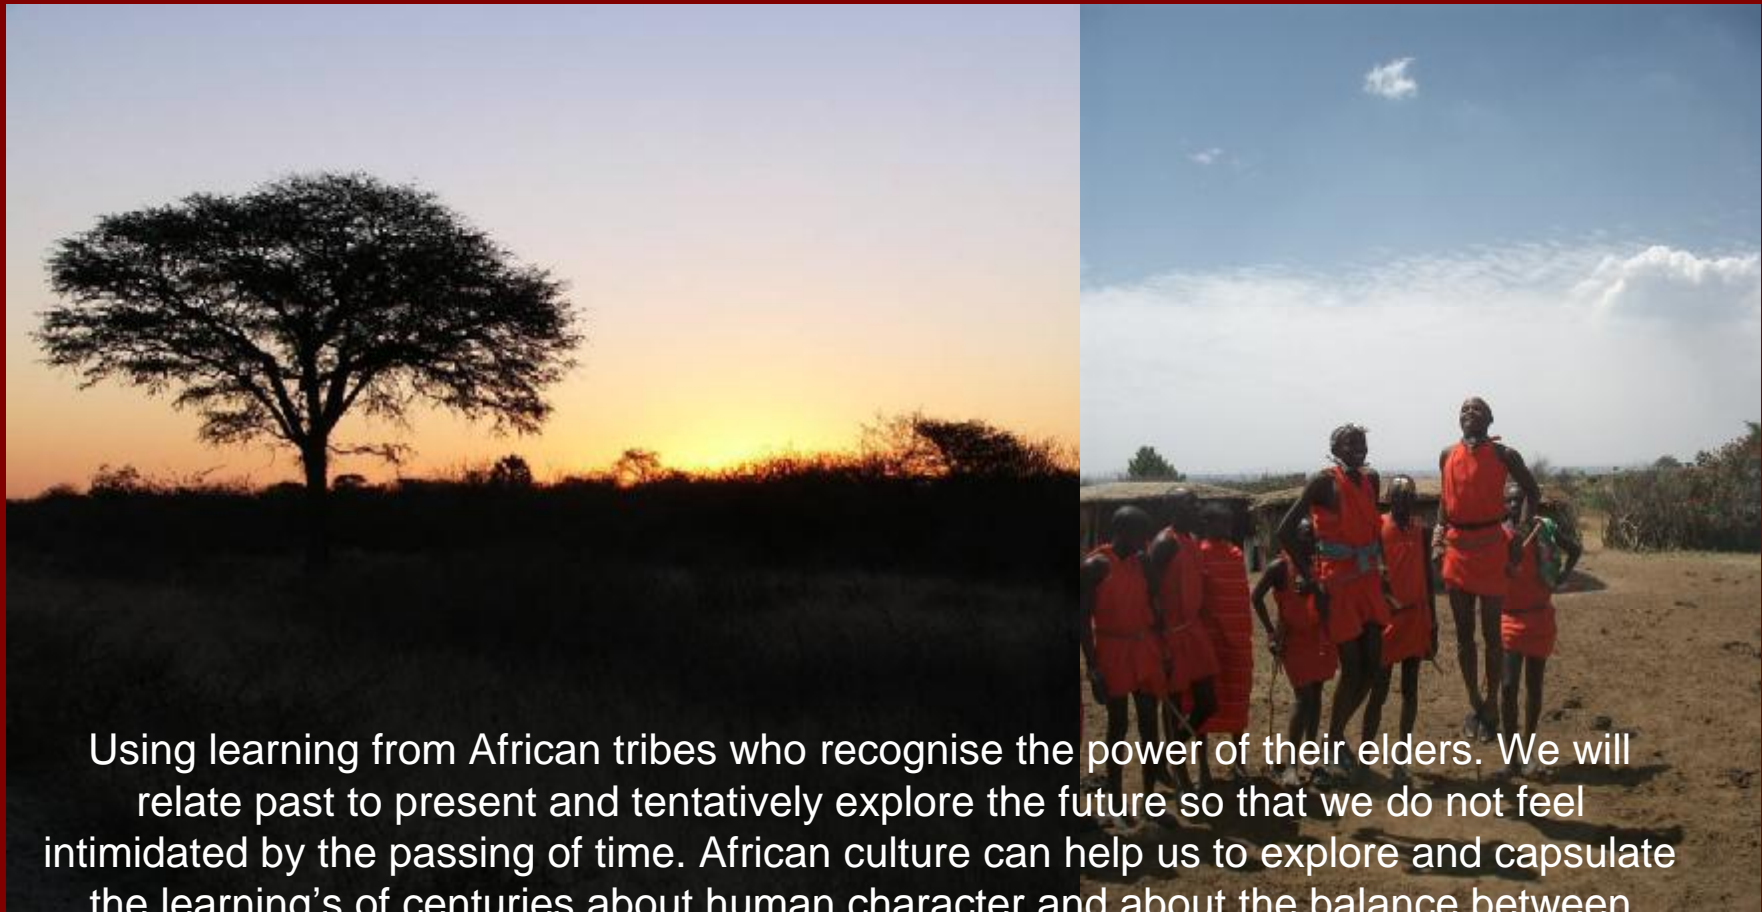

We will convert collective knowledge and experience into performance by exploring inspirational leadership that leaves a legacy. The Aravis leadership legacy is a community of mature leaders who share a passion for leaving a positive message.

Mastering Uncertainty

As we become more experienced as leaders, we continually clarify and deepen our personal vision. By focusing and exploring your personal vision and values to a deeper level, we will help you to attain a greater understanding of self. As you explore your personal journey so far, and face certain changes and perceived barriers we will help you to focus your energy. You will build upon what you have attained and achieved and discover how these qualities will lead you to your personal vision.

Integrating tribal learning into individual passion and potential

Using learning from African tribes who recognise the power of their elders. We will relate past to present and tentatively explore the future so that we do not feel intimidated by the passing of time. African culture can help us to explore and capsuleate the learning's of centuries about human character and about the balance between people and the world around them.

Social Responsibility

Leaders are powerful people who are able to exercise considerable influence over other people. It is one thing to be a charismatic or inspirational leader, but is that enough? Using our leadership gifts, skills and abilities in an ethical way is important. We will look at how organisations do not just exist for gain; they are social entities and there is a requirement upon them to act with social responsibility. We will explore the role you play in developing the Leaders of tomorrow to ensure a legacy of social responsibility.

Who should attend?

This leadership programme is for mature leaders who are interested in new ways of leading and moving forward. Ways which are compatible with their personal vision and their inner self. It is aimed at senior executives and business leaders who have significant experience of leading. Perhaps they are a member of a senior leadership team looking for new ways to influence and inspire, or they might be a leader who is facing the last phase of their career

The Location

The stunning setting of the retreat is hidden away in the Aravis Massifs, overlooking Mont Blanc in the French Alps. The unique combination of the retreat and the mountains beyond offers a very unique and special experience. Each delegate will have their own comfortable and welcoming room.
